

A top-down view of various tea ingredients on a white wooden surface. On the left, a yellow plate holds a cup of orange tea with a slice of orange and a pink paper cup. In the center, there are green leaves, a red and white checkered heart-shaped object, and brown and white sugar cubes. On the right, there is a pile of dried tea leaves, a small wooden scoop filled with tea, and a brown paper bag.

LOOKING FOR A COST EFFECTIVE AND EFFICIENT SOLUTION FOR YOUR TEA OFFERING?

A good cuppa tea is such a simple delight, something that is easy, quick and satisfies the soul. Or that's what it should be.

Many businesses want to have a tea offering, but the problem with bulk bought tea is it can be a hassle, waste of money, and time consuming for employees.

TODAY'S CURRENT MARKET OFFERING

Frozen tea blocks

- Complicated and expensive supply chain
